In an effort to go one step further in the production of natural and sustainable personal care ingredients, German based IOI Oleo have developed a quality of MCT that is 100% coconut-based. Reacting to an increasing demand for non-palm based raw materials in the Personal Care industry IOI Oleo is offering 3 new coconut-based qualities within the WITARIX® MCT range.

With these coconut-based grades IOI Oleo is complementing its range of MCT that already comprises conventional, palm-based qualities. All palm-based raw materials in the IOI Oleo portfolio are available as RSPO MB grade. However, in recent years many players in the industry try to avoid palm-based raw materials at all. In order to meet this requirement IOI Oleo has developed its palm-free MCT as well as other 100% natural and non-palm based products for different segments (Hair Conditioning Agent, Preservative Booster, Emulsifier, Emollients).

About IOI Oleo:

IOI Oleo GmbH is a Germany-based raw material producer for the Personal Care, Pharmaceutical and Food industries. Focusing on specialty ingredients IOI Oleo's 270 employees work at 3 different locations in Germany. As a founding member of RSPO the IOI Group has always been an advocate for sustainable palm oil. In 2017 IOI Oleo also became supporter of FONAP, a European non-profit organization supporting sustainable palm oil.
